

MENTOR MENTEE OF THE DEPARTMENT OF FOOD AND NUTRITION

2019-2024

Mentor mentee classes are a form of academic support and guidance that can help students in the food and nutrition department to achieve their personal and professional goals. According to a report, mentor mentee classes can also foster a mutual support and congenial learning environment among the students and mentors. Some of the benefits of mentor mentee classes are:

- ▶ They can help students learn from the experience and knowledge of their mentors, who are usually senior faculty members or experts in the field of food and nutrition.
- ▶ They can help students develop specific skills and competencies related to food and nutrition, such as research methods, laboratory techniques, dietary assessment, food safety, etc.
- ▶ They can help students cope with academic challenges and stress, and provide emotional and psychological support.
- ▶ They can help students explore various career opportunities and prepare for higher studies or competitive examinations in food and nutrition.
- ▶ They can help students build their network and connections with other students, mentors, and professionals in the food and nutrition sector.
